

RAPID ACCESS ADDICTION MEDICINE CLINICS

Where to go when you're looking for help

What is a RAAM clinic?

A rapid access addiction medicine (RAAM) clinic is a walk-in clinic for people with substance use problems. The purpose of the clinic is to provide people with quick access to addiction services without a referral or appointment. Most RAAM clinics are first-come/first-serve and offer clients brief counselling and referrals to community services.

How can I find a RAAM clinic near me?

RAAM clinics are available across Ontario. This resource sheet provides information for the RAAM clinics in the Greater Toronto Area. For people living outside of Toronto, please check the website metaphi.ca/raam-clinics for for clinic near you.
